

MRS. I. D. ...
... in stormy session

27 May 48

Newswomen Elect Alice Curran

ALICE CURRAN, special assistant to the Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs, last night was elected president of the American Newspaper Women's Club for the next year. She succeeds Mary Harworth, columnist for The Washington Post and Times Herald and other newspapers.

Other officers elected last night were Helen Thomas of United Press International, first vice president; Eleanor Griest, Reader's Digest, second vice president; Peggy Whedon, College News Conference, recording secretary; Katharine Lucy Johnsen, McGraw Hill Magazines, corresponding secretary; Patricia Oliver of Sawyer-Oliver Associates, treasurer; and Maxine Cheshire, Washington Post and Times Herald, historian.

ELECTED to the board of governors were Eleni Sakes Epstein, fashion editor, Washington Star; Virginia Sobotka, National Catholic Welfare Conference News Service; and Esther Danneberg, United States Information Agency.

The club's new president has served in her present State Department capacity since 1945 under six Assistant Secretaries, and has represented the United States at five international conferences overseas.

She has been a member of the club since 1953 and served as first vice president in 1956-57, and as program chairman in 1955-56.

Auction Today

Antiques from Virginia homes will be among the items auctioned today at Rockwood Hall in Warrenton, Va. for the benefit of the Fauquier County Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Valuable mahogany tables and a baby grand piano will be auctioned beginning at 10 a. m., daylight saving time and will be headed by ...

early American

OPEN A 20 P.M.

ILLEGIB